
MATTER AND MEASUREMENT

What is matter?

Santillana

Physics

Physics studies how energy interacts with matter without converting it into a different type of matter.

Chemistry

Chemistry studies what matter consists of and the changes that convert it into different matter.

Matter

Matter is everything that takes up space and has mass. There are two types:

- Bodies, which are objects with defined boundaries.
- Systems of matter, or objects without defined boundaries.